Forecast for Saturday 24 Oct 2020

Weather: Thicker cloud and rain spreading from west overnight with rain becoming heavy by morning. Cloudy and wet start Saturday morning with perhaps some very heavy rain for a time and flooding in places. Rain clearing mid-morning then becoming bright with sunny spells, but a few showers developing in afternoon and these could be a touch wintry on the tops. Dry with likely lengthy clear periods in the evening.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 700m: Around 70% in early hours, but little chance by the end of the night with persistent cloud down to 400 or 500m. Chance around 80% by afternoon as cloud lifts and breaks

Visibility: Mainly good in early hours, but becoming poor in rain and very poor at height with cloud onto some lower slopes. Becoming good or very good in morning as rain clears.

Meteorologist's View

A windy day with heavy rain bringing some flooding and very challenging conditions at first. Winds easing by the afternoon but gusts still possibly as high as 50mph at height in showers.

Forecast for Sunday 25 Oct 2020

Weather: A band of showers will cross from the west overnight, these heavy with some snow on higher tops. Then a mostly dry and bright day with sunny spells, but showers will break out in the afternoon, with perhaps some heavy showers in late afternoon and into the evening and a wintry mix over the tops.

Maximum wind: Southwest 35-45 gust 60mph over higher slopes, but decreasing 25-30 gust 45mph in afternoon

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 700m: 70 to 90%, with occasional broken cloud between 700 and 900m, but 500m at times in showers.

Visibility: Good or very good, but only a few kilometres in showers

Temperature: Valleys: Plus 4 C rising to plus 11 C
At 700m: Plus 1 or 2 C
Freezing level: Around 1000m
